We have the complete set of equipment, perfect production and quality management system.

Our Mission and Focus:

The mission of us is to produce healthy, safe and reassuring, funny, children's toys, inspire children to learn more about the world around us. We manufacture our products by high standard and strict quality control.

Research, Create and Offer High-Quality Products:

Working in close cooperation with famous scientific institutions, such as NIGPAS (Chinese Academy of Sciences) and CAGS (Institute of Mineral Resources), ensures us own highly-effective abilities to successfully transform ideas to be ready-for-sale products within limited time. The invest efforts in research and products development make it possible for us to create products which are preferred by experts and end users. We manufacture a variety of products for some of the world's largest customers, all of our products undergo a thorough quality control inspection by TUV, SGS and some other international authentication before being carefully packed and shipped.

Keep Pace to Meet the Needs for Teachers and Schools:

We are not just a workshop focus on producing, our company provides complete, standards-based science solutions for grades K-12 and college across all science disciplines, backed by expert support and resources that help teachers save time in their classroom and build meaningful connections with students to science and to real-life applications. We connect teachers to answers, activities to standards, and challenges to solutions. We are here to help you get the resources to create meaningful, hands-on science opportunities. We offer products that will lead students in hands-on STEM activities. Our products get children excited about science learning and to interact with STEAM professionals to introduce future education and career choices.

Product Series:

Our professional management staff team, strict management system and advanced equipment allow us to convert the full range of products, from biology and life science, to physics and physical science, to geology, earth science, and chemistry—we've brought together over 40,000 science supplies, standards-based activities and complete curriculum solutions all in a way to incorporate them in our products. You can easily find hands-on activity sets for your study in classroom, or for in-house team of scientists and former educators. The products will encourage safe, fun, and engaging hands-on learning and keep pace with the educational topics and needs: Educational toys-excavation kits; Earth science-rock, mineral & fossils specimens; Science toys and Affordable Gemstone Jewelry, etc.

Manufacturing Capability:

The quality of products depends on both manufacturing facilities and effective planning and control systems. We have excellent in-house facilities and production-planning teams to setup a full range of major processes needed to manufacture its products.

Besides: We have also expanded our business on many areas such as products of bath, ceramics, fashion jewelry, funny and sexy items, gifts & premium, lighting, novelty toys, plastic toys and plush toys as well as wooden toys etc. Except a wide range of our own products, OEM business is welcome.

Ancient Treasure Dig Kits

A special series designed for kids to know how ancient civilizations were. It should be a very cool and detailed archaeological find, one of the more unique discovery toys. Through 4 typical civilization treasures, kids can get an overview of history. Children can explore ancient treasures with their very own archaeological dig. Young scientists use archeological tools and techniques to uncover artifacts hidden within the block. The instruction sheet also contained great information on what artifacts you were excavating, which made it more interesting.
